

Student Work Experience Checklist

Student Name: _____

School Name: _____

To The Student:

Welcome to the ProStart® program! Through your participation, you are taking the first steps toward preparing for a successful restaurant and foodservice career. As you use the ProStart program materials in class, you will be learning important skills and gaining valuable experience in the restaurant and foodservice industry.

The competencies in this checklist outline the skills that you should try to complete during all of your work experiences while in high school. Completing each competency means that you have successfully demonstrated the skill at a point in time. Your supervisor will check off each completed competency and then sign the last page. In some cases, you might have more than one employer; complete as many competencies as possible with each employer. Return the completed and signed checklist(s) to your teacher for verification. You will receive a ProStart National Certificate of Achievement upon successfully completing the ProStart curriculum, passing the two ProStart examinations, having a minimum of 400 hours of work experience, and completing a minimum of 52 of the 75 competencies or 70% of this Student Work Experience Checklist.

The Student Work Experience Checklist is divided into two areas: Job-Related Observable Skills and Employability Skills.

Job-Related Observable Skills: These are skills that you are likely to be trained to do over a short time during your employment. These skills are listed according to the topics you will learn in your classroom so that your employer can coordinate your workplace learning experiences with what you are learning in class.

Employability Skills: Employability skills help you handle responsibility and include the attitudes and habits you bring to the workplace. These habits include dependability, motivation, and helpfulness. These habits are gained through academics and the overall process of gaining maturity in high school. They are acquired through the classroom as well as through other activities such as athletics, organizations, and volunteering. Teamwork skills are built by actively participating in a group or working in changing settings and with people of differing backgrounds.

To The Employer:

Welcome to the ProStart® program! You have taken a great step toward developing a stronger restaurant and foodservice workforce by providing a meaningful work experience to a high school student. The ProStart program helps students take their first real steps toward a promising restaurant and foodservice career. Experience gained in your operation will help the student earn a ProStart National Certificate of Achievement. This certificate is awarded to students who successfully complete the ProStart curriculum and pass the two examinations, work a minimum of 400 hours in the restaurant and foodservice industry, and complete this Student Work Experience Checklist.

The competencies in this checklist outline the skills that the student should try to complete during all of his or her work experiences while in high school. It is the student's responsibility to present this checklist to you from time to time in the course of his or her employment. In some cases, the student might have more than one employer and will complete some of the competencies elsewhere. Completing these competencies indicates that the student has successfully demonstrated the skill at a point in time. Students are encouraged to complete as many competencies as possible. Students must complete 52 of the 75 competencies, or 70% of the checklist, in order to earn the ProStart National Certificate of Achievement. When the student has completed his or her work experience with you, please feel free to make any additional comments and sign the last page. The student will return the checklist to his or her teacher for verification.

The Student Work Experience Checklist is divided into two areas: Job-Related Observable Skills and Employability Skills.

Job-Related Observable Skills: These are skills that the student is likely to be trained to do over a short time during employment with you. These skills are listed according to the topics taught in the student's classroom, but you are free to teach and observe them in any order appropriate to your business.

Employability Skills: Employability skills help the student handle responsibility and include the attitudes and habits he or she brings to the workplace. These habits include dependability, motivation, and helpfulness. These habits are gained through academics and the overall process of gaining maturity in high school. They are acquired through the classroom as well as through other activities such as athletics, organizations, and volunteering. Teamwork skills are built by actively participating in a group or working in changing settings and with people of differing backgrounds.
